

The ad hoc Right Relationship with Native Peoples working group met on the 5th day of 2nd month 2021.

We began with silence and celebrating how well the Braiding Sweetgrass reading groups are going.

We reviewed various possible existing initiatives that the Meeting might be able to connect to. We have not yet identified any groups that we can connect to, but have a few more we will follow up with, and some new groups we might try to connect to.

We discussed a possible donation to the group planning updates to the current Hannah Dustin memorial. The sense of our group was that a donation to the memorial, probably from the social justice fund, would be appropriate.

We intend to meet again in March to plan a 4th Sunday listening session related to the proposed apology from Annual Sessions.
