A deeply moving and experiential presentation, come hear stories from the other side of the world, from new people in ancient lands. Stories are retold precisely as told by those who lived them. We hope to introduce you to a process that will open your heart to the experiences of others through the principles and practices of Compassionate Listening: a process based on the conviction that truly hearing each other's stories - without judgment - opens the possibility of mutual compassion, understanding, and honest human relationships.

Light refreshments served.
